Recent Offers

Domaine Tessier – Pre-arrival 2018

Meursault, Côte de Beaune

Arnaud Tessier was born in Meursault and is a true homegrown talent. The domaine is almost exclusively a Meursault specialist. Indeed, it owns some of the commune's best plots. There are no "ordinary" wines in this cellar. Each wine is graceful and vital, articulate but never brazen, and most importantly, highly drinkable. To many, Arnaud's wines are considered amongst the finest of the appellation. Steen Öhman believes they rival the best of the so-called Meursault "masters" (Coche, Lafon and Roulot). We are thrilled to offer our allocation of the domaine's super-fine 2018 vintage on a pre-arrival basis (availability: December 2020).

Domaine Jean Tardy & Fils – Pre-arrival 2018

Vosne-Romanée, Côte de Nuits

Nestled in a row of plain-looking houses along the Vosne-Romanée section of the RN 74 road lies this impeccable gem of a domaine. With just over five hectares of vineyards, this small operation does not make much wine, yet Domaine Jean Tardy has become an ever-essential Burgundy label that has gained a prominent foothold in the high-end restaurant scene in France and across Europe. Its portfolio may be made up of mostly villages wines, but they are all lieu-dit cuvées which, under Guillaume Tardy's perfectionist rigour, become elevated expressions: opulent and elegant, replete with intense fruit flavour, with exemplary ageworthiness. The domaine's 2018s are superbly sophisticated and are no doubt a high point in Guillaume's career. We are thrilled to offer these magnificent Burgundy treasures on a pre-arrival basis (availability: Q1 2021).

Chanterêves (Tomoko Kuriyama & Guillaume Bott) 2018 – NEW

Savigny-les-Beaune, Côte de Beaune

A new star has indeed arrived. Chanterêves is the vinous alter ego of Tomoko Kuriyama and Guillaume Bott. In no time at all, their delicate wines have captured the imagination of Burgundy lovers and wine enthusiasts seeking that special Burgundy experience. This charming couple prefer to craft refined, aromatic, energetic wines that gently build in the mouth and tantalise the senses. Their wines are more about finesse and subtlety than immediate impact. They have a lovely vitality and sense of harmony; saline whites and fresh, pure-fruited reds. The eagerly awaited 2018s are indeed very special. Be they white or red, they all feature crystalline plush fruits with an intoxicating perfume to match. They are now here.

Champagne Ruppert-Leroy

Essoyes, Côte des Bars

From day one, Bénédicte Leroy (née Ruppert) never had any doubts about the quality of her grapes. For this, she credits her father's decades of dedication to organic viticulture. As the saying goes, good grapes make good wines so, as a result, making good Champagne was not too difficult, even if it was a new craft to her and her husband, Emmanuel Leroy. Together they took a step further by converting their vineyards to biodynamics and decided to stop selling their grapes so they could begin domaine-bottling their own champagne. The first vintage of Champagne Ruppert-Leroy was 2010, and within a few short years, their amazingly pure vinous creations have captured the attention of sommeliers and Champagne geeks alike, and some of the hottest tables in Paris, such as Le Châteaubriand, Septime and Vivant, have fought to secure allocations of their minuscule production. These are magical, vibrant expressions of Champagne. They have stolen our hearts with their elegance, energy, and pure class. It's stunners like these that continue to expand our definition of what we consider to be great champagne. Their very rare and unique champagnes are now available ex-stock Singapore.

La Maison Romane (Oronce de Beler) 2018 – NEW

Vosne-Romanée, Côte de Nuits

Oronce de Beler is the proverbial renaissance man: winemaker, dealer, farmer, designer, worker, baker, inventor, he is all of that at once. He was working for a wine magazine before deciding to go to wine school. Shortly after completing his studies in 2005, Oronce set up his own micro-négoce, using purchased grapes to make wine under the label La Maison Romane, named after the house he rented in Vosne-Romanée which became his cellar. He is meticulous about the viticulture of his carefully curated source vineyards. He buys grapes from friends that farm according to organic and primarily biodynamic principles, but plows the vineyards himself with his two horses. The vineyards consist mainly of old vines and the selection of fruit is exceedingly strict. These are exceptionally pure wines. They are also well structured, a property not immediately apparent as it's usually overshadowed by the intensity of the fruits. These exquisite 2018 Burgundy rarities are now available ex-stock Singapore.

Michel Guignier
Vauxrenard, Beaujolais

Michel Guignier's name is highly respected among winemakers in France but his wines are hardly seen outside of France, as this hardcore farmer is sufficiently contented that people around him like his wines enough to buy it up. Guignier practices organic and biodynamic viticulture on his 4 hectares, which are scattered across over 20 vineyard parcels. His biodynamic mastery in the vineyard produces perfect fruit, which endows him with the courage in his winemaking process to allow it to ferment and mature with little intervention and absolutely no additions. He considers decisions regarding maturity level to be of paramount importance, and harvest selection is done entirely by hand in the vineyards. The wines are sleek and transparent, gentle with the humility of their maker, but articulate and constantly evolving. They are low in alcohol and bright in fruit, the true essence of Beaujolais without any makeup and real vins de paysan. Don't miss these classy (not to mention ridiculously affordable) wonders.

La Dernière Goutte (Cyrille Vuillod)
Marchampt, Beaujolais

Cyrille Vuillod is a soft-spoken, low-key and patient man. He named his domaine La Dernière Goutte, meaning ‘the last drop’, inspired by countless nights he spent with his friends drinking wines till every good bottle was empty. Working organically and making wine with no additives is just how Cyrille prefers it. La Dernière Goutte wines bear his personality; they almost always have a certain fragility and delicacy about them. Lively, juicy but never cloying, they are also well defined in their mineral tones. One can always find florality in these wines. With a production level of barely 20,000 bottles a year, these affordable beauties are genuine treasures. Good for us, as they’re now in stock.

Jean Maupertuis
Clermont-Ferrand, Auvergne

A small group of vignerons is reviving the lost winemaking tradition of Auvergne, capturing the potential of the volcanic terroir and, in some cases, the very old vines. The start of this new wave can be traced back to the 1990s, and there is one man who is unanimously cited as the pioneer of this movement: Jean Maupertuis. In 1995, Maupertuis took over 3.5 hectares of vines in Saint-Georges-sur-Allier, about 15 km southwest of Clermont-Ferrand. These mature vines were already at least 30 to 60 years old, and were located at an elevation of around 400 to 450 metres – a very favourable microclimate for making serious wines. Maupertuis started crafting top quality low-intervention wines which quickly gained renown. If you want to get a sense of what a “free” wine tastes like, there is no better place to start than here; they are totally expressive and — most importantly — lipsmackingly delicious. Auvergne is now the hotbed of some of the most original and exciting wine talents in France. Dare we say that it was Maupertuis’ independent spirit that led to the creation of Auvergne’s first natural wine 25 years ago, and is responsible for the revolution the region is undergoing currently. Experience the iconic wines by the godfather of Auvergne!

Domaine No Control (Vincent Marie)
Volvic, Auvergne

Vincent Marie's passion for natural wine is boundless. As a self-declared natural wine loyalist since 2003, he knew he could make no other type of wine once he finally started his own domaine in Volvic, Auvergne, memorably named Domaine No Control. Today, he cultivates 5 hectares of vines, planted with a wide range of varieties. Vincent works with organic methods and biodynamic rhythm. The soils around Volvic are volcanic, with different compositions depending on location. What they share in common, however, is a unique type of minerality attributable to the volcanic influence on the terroirs. The ideal of 'zero-zero' (zero additives during vinification, and zero through bottling) drives Vincent to keep his grapes intact and perfect at any cost. The wines of Domaine No Control always possess assertive aromatics. There is a pronounced virility in his wines, a sense of wildness in their energy that is nearly explosive. These illustrious, expressive wines are now available in stock. Feel the energy!
