Hirsch Vineyards – December availability

Sonoma Coast, California

David Hirsch is a pioneering and legendary wine grower who founded his vineyards in the “extreme” western end of Sonoma Coast in 1980. In the 1990s, Williams-Selyem, Littorai and Kistler began buying his Pinot Noir fruit and made the Hirsch name famous. Since 2002, Hirsch started making their own pinot noirs and after David’s dynamic daughter Jasmine joined the winery, its renown around the world began to flourish. Soil articulation over fruitiness, and elegance and grace over power — attributes that endear Burgundy to its admirers — are the very things that define Hirsch’s Pinot Noirs. The newly released 2017s are simply stunning: classical, emotive wines of remarkable elegance. (Expected availability: December 2020).

Sato Wines

Central Otago, New Zealand

Yoshiaki Sato is one of our favourite winemaker friends who happens to craft beautiful biodynamic pinot noirs which are some of our most trusty go-to wines as well. Having noticed that recent vintages were yielding naturally more structured fruit, Yoshi had been thinking about how to nurture more immediately approachable and expressive pinots without sacrificing ageability. Has he succeeded? Let's just say that we were blown away when we tasted these latest Sato 2017 Pinot Noir cuvées. They simply take Pinot joyousness to the next level. Exuberant, elegant, and endearingly irresistible, you'll find yourself finishing a bottle before you even know it. They set a new benchmark for price/quality ratio for fine wines. Indeed, these are alluring pinot noirs well worth getting by the case. All wines are in-stock.

Gentle Folk

Adelaide Hills, Australia

Gareth Belton's whimsical, charming and endlessly delicious Gentle Folk wines are back in town. The lovely delectables from the Basket Range region of Adelaide Hills are always refreshing, and invariably crowd-pleasing. The latest releases from Gentle Folk which just arrived are as delightful and incredibly well-crafted as ever. From zany blends to single-vineyard cuvées, if pleasure is what you're seeking, then these wines will put a smile on your face. Given that these wines are produced in quantities of no more than a few thousand bottles each vintage, we are blessed to be able to have them in our part of the world. All wines are in-stock, but quantities may be quite limited.

Bass Phillip
Victoria, Australia

The Bass Phillip winery is legendary, having produced profound Pinot Noirs that in no time became Australia's reference standard and which are unanimously acknowledged as some of the greatest in the world. These wines are charming, but serious, much like their creator. A bottle of Bass Phillip is always a treat and a soulful lesson of what makes Pinot Noir so deserving of the love we pinotphiles profess: purity, silkiness, delicacy and haunting length. Phillip Jones deserves his well-earned rest following the change of hands at Bass Phillip this year. We are indebted to this great man, to whom we owe thanks for so many thrilling wine experiences in our lives. With gratitude and as great an excitement as ever, we are pleased to offer to you Phillip's last full vintage — 2018. All wines are in-stock.

Fattoria Al Fiore

Miyagi, Japan

The journey that Hirotaka Meguro took in setting up his winery Fattoria Al Fiore was highly unusual. An ex-Italian Chef, he turned to setting up his own winery and vineyard in Kawasaki town in Miyagi in a region where there were no existing vineyards in 2013, spearheading the wine industry for the region. He started with the help on a trusted network of farmer friends, with whom he can work closely while he awaits for his vines to mature. His chosen approach would follow a natural philosophy: “Nothing but grapes and love,” says Al Fiore’s label. Together with his wife Reina, the Meguros have shown themselves to be astute winemakers. These natural wines have a sense of exquisiteness and accomplishment. They are soothing, smile-inducing wines that express the ethos of their makers with a disarming charm. These delicious beauties are now in-stock.

Famille Dutraive

Fleurie, Beaujolais

Meet Fleurie's first family. Famille Dutraive is a family project born out of the adversity of losing nearly all their domaine crops in 2016, the outcome of which prompted Jean-Louis Dutraive (of Domaine de la Grand'Cour fame) to consider purchasing fruits from like-minded growers from other parts of Beaujolais to hedge against such calamities. That his sons and daughter have taken an interest in making wine gave further impetus to the creation of this négoce. The wines are vinified according to the same philosophy as those from the domaine. Despite the fact that none of the grapes come from Dutraive terroirs, the family has managed to craft a lineup that fits the Dutraive profile: fresh-fruited, energetic, ethereal and soulful wines that bring pure joy with every sip. The great appeal is the opportunity (especially for fans of the Dutraive style) to explore facets of Beaujolais beyond the more familiar Morgons, Fleuries and Brouillys, as these bottlings extend to Crus and appellations not covered by the domaine. Don't miss these Gamays par excellence.

Champagne Jacques Lassaigue

Montgueux, Côte des Bars

A superlative winemaker with an independent streak and a mind on overdrive, Emmanuel Lassaigue of Champagne Jacques Lassaigue makes vibrant, expressive champagnes from the hilltop of Montgueux, a village at the southern end of the Champagne region. Here, the old vines that give life to his pristine wines grow on a chalky, south-facing terroir that features veins of limestone and has gained the moniker ‘the Montrachet of Champagne’. Lassaigue’s champagnes are not only highly original but downright stunning (not to mention beautifully labeled and eloquently named), with a haunting, crystalline purity. His boundless curiosity, along with his endlessly creative vision, conspire to make Champagne Jacques Lassaigue’s wines so profoundly compelling and sought after by the dedicated Champagne lovers. Thirsty? Good, cos they’re now in stock.

Domaine de la Commaraine– Pre-arrival 2018

Pommard, Côte d'Or

It's not every day that we discover an exciting new domaine. Rarer still is finding it at a property so ancient that it predates most other addresses in the whole of the Côte d'Or. The walled vineyard of Clos de la Commaraine in Pommard has long been held to be of exceptional quality, as documented in various historical publications. Its pedigree is unquestionable. Shortly after the property came into the hands of its current owners, the domaine initiated organic conversion, starting in 2018. It's not surprising that this change came around the same time that Louis-Michel Liger-Belair was appointed as the domaine's principal consultant. Even at this early stage, it is abundantly clear that Clos de la Commaraine is a Pommard of true distinction, one that is sure to rank amongst the finest wines from this historic commune, perhaps even setting the benchmark against which they ought to be measured. The level of finesse was stunning. There are very few Pommards that come close to the level of this wine's expressiveness. This is an extraordinary feat given that this was only the debut vintage. A small remaining part of our allocation of the domaine's 2018 vintage under its own name is still available on a pre-arrival basis (availability: December 2020). Don't miss this momentous debut.

Maison En Belles Lies 2018

Saint-Aubin, Côte d'Or

Pierre Fenals is a man who pursues every one of his ideals with an unswerving tenacity. And yet he is one of the nicest vigneronns we've ever met — not unlike the kindly uncle living next door. A scientist by training, Pierre is nothing if not meticulous and methodical. This is a man who follows both his heart and his intellectual curiosity. And so it was, that, at the age of 52, Pierre Fenals left behind his comfortable urban life in Paris and headed back to school in Burgundy. In 2009, as Pierre turned 61 years old, he produced his debut vintage at Maison En Belles Lies. It is his meticulous attention to detail that perhaps makes his wines so transcendent. There's an acute sense of precision and yet the wine is totally free and ethereal. The energy levels of these wines are off the charts, their perfume entrancing. The wines of Maison en Belles Lies are more than just special: they are lyrical and magical, and display that exceptional, elusive attribute found in the greatest of wines — timelessness. Fenals has elevated Burgundy to a hitherto uncharted space, where absolute purity coexists in blissful harmony with undeniable greatness. They are now here. Don't overlook one of the most fascinating burgundies in our generation.
